ASBESTOS FIND BRINGS SITE WORK TO A HALT

New homes developer removes workmen from former Digmoor Sports Centre land amid concerns over contamination

Report by Henry James

A HOUSING developer has been forced to pause construction on a new 72 homes site at the former Skelmersdale Sports Centre on Digmoor Road following asbestos concerns.

Residents feared there may be asbestos contamination on the site and contacted MP Rosie Cooper, who immediately contacted the council.

The site, which has been empty since 2013 following the closure of the sports centre and subsequent fire and demolition, has since been purchased by the property developer Gleeson Homes.

Gleeson were successful in securing planning permission from West Lancashire Borough Council, which included a financial benefit to the council of over half a million pounds through the New Homes Bonus.

However, having set up an on-site cabin and appearing to have begun initial remedial works, the cabin was suddenly removed, and workmen cleared from the site.

MP Cooper told the Champion: "Local residents approached me after the workers and the on-site cabin had gone, with some saying it was due to the discovery of asbestos on the site.

"I immediately contacted West Lancashire Borough Council' Planning Department to find out what was happening to the site and if there were any health or safety concerns for local residents, many who use the open area as a short cut, to walk their dogs or for children to play.

Police boost one: Officers given extra stop and search powers

Report by Henry James

LANCASHIRE Police have been given enhanced stop and search powers, as part of government efforts to crackdown on violent crime.

The Home Office is making it simpler for all forces in England and Wales to use Section 60 of the Criminal Justice and Public Order Act, which empowers officers to stop and search anyone in a designated area without needing reasonable grounds for suspicion if serious violence is anticipated. The nationwide pilot has been extended from a smaller pilot within the seven forces worst affected by knife crime (the West Midlands, London, South Yorkshire, Merseyside, South Wales, West Yorkshire, and Greater Manchester), following an urgent review commissioned by Prime Minister Boris Johnson.

Home Secretary Priti Patel said: "We are experiencing a knife crime epidemic and I am determined to put a stop to it.

"Police chiefs are clear - stop and search is a vital tool in combatting the scourge of serious violence and keeping people safe.

Police have been given extra stop and search powers

"I am giving them my full support and more police authority to approve stop and search to halt this terrible crime in its tracks."

The rollout will see the Home Secretary lift all conditions in the voluntary Best Use of Stop and Search Scheme over the use of Section 60 by reducing the level of authorisation needed for officers to deploy and extend Section 60 from senior officers to inspectors and superintendents

It will also lower the degree of certainty required by the authorising officer so they must reasonably believe an incident involving serious violence 'may', rather than 'will', occur.

Furthermore, it will extend the initial period a Section 60 can be in force from 15 hours to 24, and extending the overall period an extension can be in place from 39 to 48 hours

Last year almost 7,000 arrests for offensive weapons and 900 arrests for firearms were made following a stop and search.

National Police Chiefs' Council Lead for Stop and Search, Deputy Chief Constable Adrian Hanstock, said: "The extension of this pilot to all 43 police forces, and British Transport Police across the rail network, will help to reduce bureaucracy and allow officers to use Section 60 controls much faster when it is clear it is in the public interest to do so."

Police boost two: £3m fund to tackle knife crime and serious violence

LANCASHIRE'S Police and Crime Commissioner has secured almost £3million in government funding to help tackle and prevent knife crime and serious violence across the county.

Lancashire is one of 18 areas across the country to be allocated funding, with £1.82m from the Knife Crime Fund and £1.16m for the setting up and running of a Violence Reduction Unit (VRU).

Lancashire's proposals have now been signed off by the Home Office and funding is already being actioned resulting in a 146% increase in stop search activity across the force last month, with 679 stop searches in July 2019 compared with 276 in July 2018.

The money will be used to fund extra police patrols in areas affected by knife crime and crime prevention initiatives including knife surrenders and work with schools, colleges and other partner agencies. Additional knife wands and bins are also being purchased and new youth zone buses will be operational in every division, offering engagement and diversionary activities.

Chief Supt Sue Clarke from Lancashire Police, said: "We are committed to keeping our communities safe so we welcome this extra funding to help us tackle violent crime.

"We've already stepped up patrols in key areas increasingly using powers like Section 60s [for stop and search] to address identified local issues but this extra funding will enable us to do more of this work, along with other activity like crime prevention work with local schools and colleges."

Jimmy Matthew from the Skelmersdale Veterans with Heidi from the Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal

Veterans attend Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal seminar

MEMBERS of Skelmersdale Veterans' Association were at St Mary's Parish Centre in Ambleside for the Royal British Legion Poppy Appeal seminar.

Association members met other poppy appeal volunteers from all over the North West and took a look at the new school pack that the appeal will be sending out in early October. The packs includes key rings, bands and jacket zips.

This year the veterans will be selling new poppy pins. The new poppy also has a lighter poppy leaf.

Alan Lewis, chairman of the Skelmersdale Veterans' said: "We will be selling poppies again and are looking forward to meet old friends we have made selling poppies in the past.

"Billy Duncan, Jimmy Matthew and myself receive support from other association members. We are also backed by the staff at Asda, in the shop, and in the cafe. Everyone at the Concourse has always been very helpful too. The shoppers and young people at each location have supported us as well.

"Our fundraising has always been successful, but we are hoping to raise more money this year through our Poppy Appeal.

"If you can support the Poppy Appeal in 2019, please let us know. We are looking for companies to sell poppies for us.

"The association would like to thank Tommy Hart for organising a social evening at the Polo public house and a big thank you also to Arron Martin, the manager of the Polo, for laying on a disco and karaoke."

Cheron Mannion.

The company was founded by Steve Mannion and his wife Cheron. Steve explained why he chose to establish his company's base in Skelmersdale and how he hopes to take on more staff.

He said: "We picked Skelmersdale for a few reasons: firstly because of its location to the motorway, secondly, because of its choice of spaces to work in, and lastly because of the opportunity to work alongside some of the other fantastic companies already in Skelmersdale, such as Midstream and Twinkle House who are already doing amazing work.

"We hope to grow the hub which in turn will generate a few jobs in the area and also give people the chance from places like Midstream to engage in some voluntary work."

There will be a chance to meet the team and the therapy animals at the open day on Saturday August 17 from 12pm until 3pm. There will be light refreshments available and also an opportunity to do some arts and crafts 'with the animals' help."

MP presses Boris on need for train station in town

New government's commitment to the project must continue, says Rosie Cooper

Report by Henry James

MP Rosie Cooper. Inset: Prime Minister Boris Johnson

WEST Lancs MP Rosie Cooper has wasted no time in lobbying new Prime Minister Boris Johnson on the need for a train station in Skelmersdale.

Ms Cooper has approached Mr Johnson together with his cabinet colleagues, Chancellor Sajid Javid and Transport Secretary Grant Shapps to seek assurances that the Government's commitment for a rail hub in the town will continue.

She has pressed Mr Johnson's numerous predecessors over many years to ensure that 'this long-term project does not lose significance' when changes at the top of Government take place.

Having last year received some projected dates for the scheme, which included the completion of the feasibility study by mid-2019, Ms Cooper wants to ensure that the Government, as potentially the main funders of the project, continue to earmark future funding for a station.

Ms Cooper said: "Residents have waited decades for adequate transport links and I have been campaigning for a train station for Skelmersdale since being elected here in 2005.

"However, the project will only proceed to the final development stages if supported and funding is made available by the secretary of state for transport.

"I will continue to lobby the Department for Transport and this new secretary of state, just like the last, to ensure they prioritise Skelmersdale Railway as a significant infrastructure project deserving of DfT investment.

"Having launched the campaign for a railway station with local residents when we were standing collecting signatures on petitions in the shopping centre, we have demonstrated the support for this scheme. I have spoken in Parliament on the subject and I take every opportunity to press the case about the transformation a railway station would bring to Skelmersdale.

"We have come a long way in our aim of securing a railway station in the town and I have consistently said that a railway station in the heart of Skelmersdale will open up a world of economic and social opportunities for the town and its residents."

Raid at garage

POLICE are appealing for information after a garage in Halsall was broken into by raiders using sledgehammers and high powered tools.

Around 12.30am on Sunday (August 11) a number of offenders raided Halsall Garage on Halsall Road and took a quantity of cigarettes, alcohol and cash before making off from the scene.

The garage was closed at the time of the offence, with no staff members present.

Detectives are appealing for information and are keen to speak to anyone who may have saw what happened.

Det Con Kelly Rosenthal, of Lancashire police, said: "The offenders caused substantial damage to the exterior of the property in order to gain entry, using sledgehammers.

"They then used high-powered tools to access secure parts of the building once inside and stole a quantity of cash, alcohol and cigarettes.

"The offence took time and would have generated a large amount of noise and it is likely a vehicle was used.

"While this is a rural location, the garage is on a main road and it is possible there are witnesses who saw activity but might not have realised an offence was in progress.

"If you saw anything unusual, or have any dashboard mounted camera footage from outside the garage, please come forward."

Anyone with information can contact police on 101. Alternatively you can call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111 or online at crimestoppers-uk.org

Asbestos fears at new housing development

"It appears that Gleeson believed that two thirds of the site is contaminated.

"The council had stated that they understood that all asbestos from the structure has been removed from the site.

"When I took this up with the council, they provided me with studies and ground investigation reports from April 2016.

"The council have assured me that there is no suggestion in any of the survey information that the presence of low amounts of asbestos in the soil poses any risk to residents neighbouring the site.

"The council tell me that due to the cost associated with remediation, Gleeson Homes have paused development at the present times.

"Gleeson's Chief Operating Officer has recently updated me to confirm the pause, but assured me they remain intent on developing the site. In the meantime, an order has been placed by Gleeson to secure the site with fencing panels.

"I will continue to monitor the situation and would ask local residents to keep me informed of any concerns they may have."

Gleeson Homes and West Lancashire Borough Council have been contacted for comment.

Chance to have your say on proposed changes to borough licensing policy

Residents, businesses, public services and representatives of cultural and community groups invited to give their views

MEMBERS of the public are being given the chance to have a say on the official document the borough council uses when licensing pubs, bars and other licensed operations across West Lancashire.

The authority is inviting local people and businesses to comment on its draft Licensing Policy.

This document provides all interested parties and the public with guidance on the approach that the council will take under the Licensing Act 2003.

People have until Thursday, October 31 to give their views on the draft policy as council chiefs say they want to ensure it reflects the opinions of residents and all businesses - not just licensed premises - within the borough.

The document covers the sale and supply of alcohol in pubs and clubs, late night refreshment and the provision of regulated entertainment.

The council is proposing to change the policy to ensure it reflects current legislation and guidance, as well as the licensing issues that are evident across the borough.

Councillor Kevin Wright.

Councillor Kevin Wright, the council's portfolio holder for health and community safety said: "To ensure our licensing policy remains a practical working document, it's essential that we get as much feedback from local people and business as possible.

"We are proposing to make changes to the licence review process to outline the options available, which includes setting out explicit expectations for licence breaches and/or criminal activity. We are also proposing to provide a clearer definition of public nuisance, which will help the authority to consider a wider context when examining contested applications."

The council is also writing to the police, fire service, members of the West Lancashire Community Safety Partnership, representatives of the licensed trade, residents' groups and cultural organisations to get a wide range of views across the borough.

To see the draft policy, visit www.westlancs.gov.uk/licensing. A limited number of hard copies are available on request. You can submit your views via email licensing.enquiries@westlancs.gov.uk or in writing to WLBC Licensing Service, Robert Hodge Centre, Stanley Way, Skelmersdale WN8 8EE.

Council stalls on market support to deal blow to traders

Our West Lancs group question sudden move following claims it could affect business

Report by Kenny Parker

Ormskirk Outdoor Market.

TRADERS at Ormskirk's outdoor market have been told the council is to stop providing stalls for them and, in a double whammy, council workers will no longer be responsible for erecting their stalls.

Currently, West Lancs Borough Council staff provide the stalls and put them in place for the market traders but this will end next April.

The controversial move has been approved by the council's cabinet, but has been blasted as 'unfair' by members of the Our West Lancs group.

The council has defended the move, however, saying that it brings the market into line with other markets and that the decision was reached with the agreement of the traders.

However, the Champion believes not all the stall holders are happy with the pending arrangements and some believe the decision could have a 'negative impact'.

Some traders at the popular market say they already have a long day, many coming long distances to take part. They point out that having to provide their own stalls and put them up will 'completely change' their working day.

One disgruntled trader who asked not to be named said that packing damp or wet coverings in their van alongside stock could be 'a huge problem' as well as the sheer logistics of transporting the stalls and erecting/dismantling them.

There are fears that the moves could see the market decrease in size.

The news has also alarmed visitors to the market. Martin Pagett, from Aughton, said he was dismayed to learn that one market trader he visits regularly says he will no longer be at the market once the new rules come into play.

Mr Pagett fears the market will become a 'shadow of itself' as others will no doubt leave too.

Councillor Adrian Owens, leader of Our West Lancashire told the Champion the decision was made by seven members of the cabinet.

"If there had been an opportunity for all councillors to debate this proposal, then Our West Lancashire would have expressed concerns and wanted significantly more assurance from officers that this was the right move for Ormskirk," he said.

"Councillors only considered the future of the market in a detailed review three years ago and this change has been proposed suddenly.

"Ormskirk market is one of the strongest in the North West and we need to maintain that. If market traders are not happy with the current proposals I would urge them to work together with other market traders who feel the same and ask for full and meaningful discussions with the council. Our West Lancashire councillors are ready to help."

A spokesperson for West Lancs council said: "Ormskirk Market is one of the best street markets in the North West, if not the best. West Lancashire Borough Council has given a great deal of thought to how it can improve the market to maintain that position and make it sustainable for the future.

"It is normal practice these days for market traders to set up their own stalls in many markets across the UK, and many existing businesses on the market have their own stalls which they will set up in other markets they attend.

"The decision to allow market traders to set up their own stalls was part of a package of measures agreed with the existing traders which will help support the market into the future by reducing costs to traders and the council. These should help sustain the market by maintaining our existing market trader base at the same time as offering a package which should help attract new traders and the proposals are being introduced with the support of the existing market traders, who see the wider benefits concerned.

"The council is also currently consulting the public on a scheme for Moor Street in which street furniture will be re-configured to allow more room for market stalls."

The Liverpool Road Meeting Room

Community groups asked to take over management duties for meeting room

COMMUNITY groups may be able to take over the management of a meeting room in Skelmersdale.

West Lancashire Borough Council is offering an opportunity for community organisations to register an interest to fully manage the future operation of Liverpool Road Meeting Room, in Skelmersdale.

The facility would be offered by the council on a full management lease, for a minimum of 25 years.

The council would be committed to working alongside any groups that are seriously interested in taking over the meeting room and can demonstrate an appropriate business case.

Similar arrangements have seen former community centres at Birch Green, Digmoor, Greenhill and Tanhouse transferred from West Lancashire Borough Council to community and local management committees and run with "great success".

To express an interest or get more information write to: Paula Campbell, Community Leisure Manager, Leisure & Wellbeing, Robert Hodge Centre, Stanley Way, Skelmersdale, WN8 8EE. Or email paula.campbell@westlancs.gov.uk.

The expressions of interest must be received by the council by Friday, August 30.

Councillor Yvonne Gagen, cabinet member for leisure, said: "This is a great opportunity for community groups to take over the meeting room. The successful applicant would have the opportunity to help and support the local community by providing a wide range of facilities".

Trophy haul over past 12 months prove band are clearly hitting the right notes!

Report by Henry James

Musical director Ben Coulson with the collection of trophies won by the band

THE past 12 months have proven to be both successful and enjoyable for all involved with Skelmersdale Prize Band.

Since musical director Ben Coulson joined the band in 2018, success has been flowing, with many enjoyable concerts and successful contest performances.

First came Rochdale contest, the band's final contest performance in the third section before moving to fourth section in January. The band played Dimensions, and were placed an impressive third.

In the new year, the band enjoyed a clean sweep of prizes at Preston contest, playing A Saddleworth Festival Overture.

This was rewarded by first place and winning MD trophies, and a best soloist prize for principal cornet James Ball, best euphonium for Darren Fawcett, and best basses for their bass section.

The area contest in Blackpool at the end of February also didn't go unrewarded.

After a pleasing rendition of Stantonbury Festival, the band were awarded sixth place, allowing them to leave Blackpool with yet another trophy for their cabinet.

This year, the band have also performed for the first time at Boarshurst Band Club, as a part of a popular series of concerts that are live streamed.

In another first for the band, they were "thrilled" to take part in the From The Bandroom series by East Leeds FM.

One of the biggest brass band nights of the year is Whit Friday, and this year they were thrilled to take part on the Saddleworth side of the contest. The band spent many weeks rehearsing their march, William Rimmer's The Black Knight, and they were thrilled to have been placed first in their section for three of the six villages they entered.

The chosen march holds particular significance for the band, as Rimmer conducted them for a time, making it a special choice indeed.

Most recently, the band were out at Brighouse March and Hymn contest. They played The Black Knight once again, along with the hymn Abide with Me, and were thrilled to have won their section overall, including the prize for best hymn, and second place overall for deportment.

A spokesperson for Skelmersdale Prize Band said: "Overall, this year has been one of incredible success and enjoyment for Skelmersdale. This is largely thanks to MD Ben Coulson, but is also testament to the hard work and dedication shown both by the committee and the players of the band."

Edge Hill seeks historic artefacts for new archive

OFFICIALS at Edge Hill University are appealing for artefacts relating to the institution's 134-year history for inclusion in its newly-created archive.

Edge Hill was the first non-denominational teacher training college for women in England when it opened in 1885.

Although it already has a large archive this has now moved into the new Catalyst building and management are keen to add more items, particularly relating to the years between 1885 and 1930 when the college moved from Liverpool to Ormskirk.

Archivist, Anna Watson, said: "We have some fascinating items in our newly-created archive. The 'Friendship books', which include delicate illustrations, handwritten poems and songs which were shared between students, are just one of the highlights.

"We also have a large collection of photos, school scarves, postcards and the early card registration forms for students studying here when it was the first non-denominational teacher training college for women in England.

"But despite the amazing collection of items, we already have there are gaps in the timeline, including the period from 1885 when the college opened on Durning Road in the Edge Hill district of Liverpool before moving to its current home in Ormskirk in the 1930s.

"We also have very little from when the college was requisitioned for use as a military hospital during the Second World War and the students were evacuated to Bingley in Yorkshire."

The archive contains more than 7,000 items including uniform, badges, building plans, autograph books and documents.

Anna added: "There are so many interesting items that not only give us an insight into Edge Hill, but also reveal our wider social history and the history of education.

This mace used at award ceremonies and major functions is among the items in the Edge Hill archive.

"I particularly like our photographs, some show early shots of the campus and common room, others female gym dress in the 1920s and trip outs to the Wirral to play tennis."

Information resources manager, Ruth Wilson, added: "The archive is not only important in documenting the university's history right back to its founding in 1885, but is also a significant part of social history.

"Our items document university life through the past 134 years and will be of interest to many researchers, including those connected to the university, studying family history, education through the decades or the wider history of Lancashire.

"We are keen for any items, big or small and from any year including anything recent. Full information is on our website at www.edge-hill.ac.uk/ls/edge-hill-archive/ or people can call us on 01695 657516."

Items can be lent for copying or given for permanent storage but with ownership retained or donated to the university. They will be kept in environmentally-controlled conditions meeting archival standards.

Residents object against plans to build 14 houses due to 'overcrowding' and parking problems'

Report by Henry James

An artist's impression of what the development will look like

RESIDENTS have been objecting to an application submitted by Tawd Valley Developments to demolish the former Eskbank Day Nursery Site, on Eskbank, to build 14 two storey "affordable" houses.

The operation of the Day Nursery/Family Resource Centre stopped in 2017 when the site was purchased by West Lancashire Borough Council from Lancashire County Council.

To stop the site from "falling into disrepair and discourage vandalism," the building is occupied by 'Guardians' who live on site on a temporary basis.

The Guardians are not Council tenants, they are a private company who can provide live-in security at vacant properties.

They are being employed by West Lancashire Borough Council to help prevent the site falling into disrepair and discourage vandalism at minimal cost to the council. If the planning application is approved their contract will end during the building works.

However residents have written to the council to highlight their objections.

Kim Day is concerned because there are no spaces for cars. While Jennifer Jones believes putting 14 houses on the proposed site will "potentially impact of the well-being of current residents as the area will feel overcrowded and possibly natural light will be blocked from existing properties, potentially impacting on the mental health of residents."

She believes the area could be used to create more parking and a community garden.

Lee Lawrenson added: "Our estate does not require any more building of homes, I'm extremely disappointed to hear of these proposals. It just doesn't make any sense especially with overcrowding and parking issues."

Each of the houses proposed will have access to a "generous amount" of private amenity space in the form of a rear garden comprising of a patio area, lawn space and refuse storage.

The homes will also have a small front garden, with hard and soft landscaping and boundary treatments to create a mews-style setting.

The initial site layout and house designs were submitted by West Lancashire Homes to West Lancashire Borough Council Development Management team for "Pre-Application review." It was said the total loss of the grassed area to the north of the site would be harmful, but that the proposed layout, design and principle of the development was accepted.

There were also concerns over the relationship between the southernmost semi-detached property and a property in Eskbank in terms of outlook and overlooking.

The planning statement for the development states that the proposal to redevelop the site represents "an important opportunity" to deliver sustainable development by using brownfield land to provide "much needed" affordable housing.

The aim is that the development will provide 100% affordable rented housing, which will then be transferred to narrow the identified gap between the borough's identified "affordable housing need, and affordable housing provision in reality."

The planning statement for the development also states it will provide sufficient car parking and "improve public transport access in the future."

The Men-Aces team at the Concourse

Men-Aces have a ball at tenth anniversary by showing off skills!

SKEM Men-Aces disability football team were invited by the Skelmersdale Concourse shopping centre to put on an exhibition to mark their tenth Anniversary.

They offered the team floor space on Saturday, August 10 to put on an exhibition and the Men-Aces were based at the Concourse Park by Wilkos.

During the afternoon there was a kiddies beat the goalie contest, a display of their photos and they also had on show their trophies.

There was a 'keepie-uppie' contest as well. The Concourse provided £50 Concourse shopping centre vouchers as a prize.

Carl and Mim Eaton from the Men-Aces said: "It was a fantastic gesture of the Concourse to offer us floor space and it proved to be a great success.

"The whole day was a buzz of excitement, many of our supporters stopped to congratulate us on past wins.

"There was genuine interest from an array of people stopping and talking to the lads.

"The winner of the keepie-uppie was a young man from Rainford.

"He kindly donated the vouchers back to the club for the lads' Christmas presents. This was a wonderful gesture from this young man."

Dream comes true for care home resident after rock concert ticket surprise!

Report by Henry James

Kath (centre) with her tickets alongside Jenny Horn, Cheryl Finnigan, Diane Lea, Julie Harris, Susan Hunter, Oliver Griffiths and Julie Denton

A CARE home resident who told staff she had an unfulfilled dream of going to a rock concert was given surprise tickets to see Alice Cooper!

Kath Weilding, who lives at Elm House Care Home, in Skelmersdale, held a summer event on Saturday to say thank you to their staff and residents, and it certainly packed a big surprise!

Recently, the staff at Elm House decided to ask their residents if they had any unfulfilled dreams that, if possible, they could help to make come true.

At the event it was possible to do this - as one lady has a passion for rock music and was delighted when she was presented with tickets for herself and her carer to see none other than the legendary Alice Cooper in action at the MEN Arena in October!

The home also produced their own quiz books for residents and sold these on a donation basis on the day to raise funds for Dementia UK, along with the proceeds from their raffle.

Registered manager Angela Finnigan said: "When we introduced the Wish Box for the residents we certainly didn't expect a request to see Alice Cooper!

"Kath is a lovely lady and it was a pleasure to be able to organise this for her, she hasn't stopped playing Alice records since the weekend!"

Angela continued: "Our motto is that life begins at Elm House. We wanted to take this opportunity to show the unsung heroes in our team that we are grateful for their commitment and passion, whilst also showing how important it is to engage closely with our residents to let them know how much we love them and want them to enjoy their time with us."

Hospital to give behind the scenes tour at open day

ORMSKIRK Hospital is holding an open day to give people a chance to see behind the scenes and find out about employment opportunities.

Children are also encouraged to take their toys for 'treatment'.

Taking place on Saturday September 7, 11am to 3pm, to coincide with the Annual General Meeting (AGM) members of the public are invited to meet with various hospital teams, tour the departments and watch demonstrations.

Before the main day starts a menopause consultant and aholistic team of experts will run a drop in advice session at the 'Menopause Lounge' in the restaurant between 10am and 11am for anyone needing help with symptoms.

A family trying their hand at first aid

The AGM for Southport and Ormskirk Hospital NHS Trust will take place between 11am and noon at the Education Centre, where there will be a job fair between noon and 3pm.

The Job fair will include interviews for live roles, and the chance to meet some of the people who work in the hospital.

A spokesperson for the hospital said: "Come along to find out more about the work we do, bring a teddy to visit our plaster clinic, enjoy delicious food, get your face painted, or even try your hand at basic first aid and resuscitation skills.

"Keep an eye on our Facebook page @ormskirkdgh or Twitter @SONHSTrust for more details."

Parking is free on the day; barriers will remain up until midnight.

Hospital trust staff show support for LGBT community

Report by Kenny Parker

SPECIAL 'rainbow badges' are now being worn by more than 500 staff at Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust...to 'send a positive message of inclusion.'

Trust bosses say the badges show that Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals are an 'open, non-judgemental and inclusive place for people who identify as LGBT+'

The acronym LGBT stands for lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender while plus sign signals that the wearer is inclusive of all identities, regardless of how people define themselves.

The badge is a sign that the wearer is a member of NHS staff to who the LGBT+ community can talk to about issues of sexuality and gender identity.

When staff sign up to wear the badge they are provided with information about the challenges faced by people who identify as LGBT+ in accessing healthcare and what they can do to support them.

The badge is designed as an NHS logo superimposed on the rainbow pride flag and can be worn on lanyards or uniforms. It was created by Dr Michael Farquhar of Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust.

Hospital trust staff wearing the badges which are shown below

More than 100 clinical commissioning groups, GP surgeries and hospitals across the country have already expressed an interest in rolling it out.

Equality lead at Southport and Ormskirk Hospitals NHS Trust, Bob Davies said: "We know that teenagers who identify as LBGT+ are more likely to attempt suicide or self-harm, more likely to be bullied, or will even avoid seeking out healthcare for fear of discrimination.

"These statistics are worrying so it is very encouraging to see over one quarter of our staff here proudly wearing these badges and showing support.

"Badges wearers are standing in solidarity with LGBT+ people, and that support is vital for both patients and other staff members. We hope that our younger patients particularly find this helpful and welcoming, should they need to talk."

Annie scores national success at the double

Royal parade invite rounds off triumphant event for local disabled equestrian ace

Report by Kenny Parker

Annie (in yellow) celebrates her success with friends including Glenda Foley, trustee of West Lancs RDA, and Natalie Burns, group coach and founder of East Liverpool RDA group.

A HORSE rider with learning disabilities from Burscough scored a double first in a national championship where she also got to parade in front of royalty.

Annie Wordley, who attends the West Lancs Riding for the Disabled Assiocation (RDA) at the Parbold Eqestrian Centre, was competing in the RDA National Championships at Hartpury College, Gloucester.

And the 25-year-old and her 11-year-old Fell pony, Brackenbank Flash Harry, took first place in the Senior ID Dressage and Overall Class Championship for the highest score in the dressage and first place in Senior Countryside Challenge and Overall Class Championship for the highest score in Senior Countryside Challenge.

Proud

Annie has also qualified for the RDA Intellectual Disability Championships, in association with British Dressage, due to be held in Solihull on August 31.

The championships also celebrated the 50th anniversary of RDA and Annie was chosen to ride a special parade attended by the Princess Royal, Princess Anne.

The National RDA Championship is the biggest equestrian event for disabled riders in the world and bigger than the Paralympics and Para World Championships combined. It brings together up to 500 riders from as far afield as Guernsey and the northern tip of Scotland and more than 300 horses and ponies of all ages and abilities. Events include carriage driving, countryside challenge, dressage, show-jumping, vaulting and showing.

Debbie Hartill, chairperson and group coach of West Lancs RDA, said: "All at West Lancs RDA are extremely proud of Annie and Harry's achievements. There are no limits to what the partnership can do and we will support them all the way."

● Anyone interested in volunteering at West Lancs RDA is welcome to contact Debbie by email at deb.westlancsrda@gmail.com.

Radio station marks 40 years of making waves at hospital!

Report by Kenny Parker

A RADIO station serving both Ormskirk and Southport Hospitals has celebrated 40 years since first taking to the airwaves.

The volunteer run station, which counts impressionist Jon Culshaw and Radio Lancashire's Alan Beswick among its former presenters, first broadcast to the patients of Ormskirk District Hospital on August 6 1979 as Radio Ormskirk General.

Now in its ruby anniversary year it is broadcasting to both Ormskirk and Southport hospital sites and is named Hospital Radio Heartbeat.

Station manager Bill Jarvis said: "It is and continues to be an absolute pleasure to be the current station manager during the celebrations. I am proud of all the effort from our voluteers and would like to thank all members, past and present, for all the hard work they have put in over the last 40 years to make the station what it is today.

"Also, we would like to give a special thanks to the trust for the support they have given us over the years, which includes providing the facilities to house our studio."

Back when presenter and founder Rob Turner played the first vinyl record, Oliver's Army by Elvis Costello, the station was very different to how it is today.

There were no computers and the station only broadcast two hours a night.

These days, the station broadcasts 24 hours a day to patients via a sophisticated computer system from its studio complex in Ormskirk Hospital.

Volunteers at Radio Heartbeat celebrate its 40th anniversary.

However, despite all the changes over the last 40 years, its purpose has remained the same and that is to provide free entertainment, music and chat to cheer up the patients free of charge.

Over the years the station has seen fires, floods and technical problems but is still broadcasting four decades later with a strong volunteer and listener base.

The station is run by an army of volunteers and some famous past names include Alan Beswick who went on to work at Radio Lancashire and the best known former member and star of Dead Ringers, impressionist Jon Culshaw.

As well as playing music, the radio station also provides specialist programmes aimed at the dementia patients as well as drama, comedy and documentary features.

Members of the radio station can also be seen out and about at local events recording interviews and making features to be played to the patients of the trust.

Radio Heartbeat is a registered charity, independent from Southport and Ormskrik Hospital NHS Trust, that raises funds via music roadshows and donations.

Bill added: "It has been an interesting 40 years and we are looking forward to many more happy years of hospital broadcasting to come'.

Anyone who wishes to find out more about Radio Heartbeat can visit their Facebook page, facebook.com/hospitalradioheartbeat or send an email to sandoradio@gmail.com

More variety, a solid walking surface and decent toilets would improve town centre - not more student flats and charity shops

YET again we see headlines concerning proposed town centre schemes for Ormskirk.

I have written on this subject previously - I have worked in Ormskirk town centre from the age of 17 and am now 62 years of age. For the first 22 years of my working life I was based in Aughton Street where the traffic once flowed and on Thursdays and Saturdays negotiated the then flourishing market.

The town became a pedestrianised area and over the years I know that men will have spent their entire career digging up and replacing/levelling the block paving in the centre, and this still goes on regularly today.

I have seen hundreds of women 'step out of their shoes' when heels are caught in the paving and indeed experienced this myself. I have seen hundreds of people step on an uneven block in the rain; it has 'wobbled' and they have been severely soaked by the water pooling underneath.

There have been various 'improvement schemes' over the years and now the latest one apparently is in the pipeline.

Allegedly this plan is going to "make the town more attractive for shoppers, visitors and residents."

The problem I see is that there ain't much actually in the town any more for shoppers, visitors and residents.

There are hardly any shops, apart from charity shops, there is an abundance of bars/eateries and only one supermarket which is not actually in the town centre. Even the 'famous Ormskirk market' is not what it used to be.

We now also have the proposed demolition and redevelopment of the former Tesco site, primarily for students (yet we have student rental properties standing empty on many streets) but I find it hard to believe that this building will attract the likes of Next or Primark into our little town, as has been suggested.

Surely spending funds on improving the variety of shops, providing a solid walking surface for both able and disabled and making decent toilet facilities would make more sense than rearranging what we already have. Perhaps more shoppers, visitors and residents would then want to spend time in the town.

Anne Burt, Burscough.

Whole town will suffer if stallholders are driven out and market decreases in size

WALKING through Ormskirk town centre today (Thursday) one could not help but enjoy the thriving market.

Listening to the voices of people it was obvious that many had travelled distances to be there - a financial draw for stallholders and shopkeepers alike.

Saturday will see this repeated and so on throughout the year. The lifeblood of this market town. How many hundreds of years has this market been held to the betterment of Ormskirk and district?

However, during my chats I was informed that the council has voted to stop paying their staff to put up the market stalls and remove them after each market.

As from April 2020, I am told, stallholders will have to provide, set up and remove their own stalls. They already have a long day, many coming long distances to take part.

Will they be eager to come once their burdens are increased? Would you? Bad enough on a fine sunny day, but what about in inclement weather? Packing damp or wet coverings in your van alongside your stock will be a huge discouragement.

What about the sheer logistics of transporting the stalls and maybe erecting/dismantling them on your own?

It seems probable that the market will decrease in size, if it remains at all. If this results, the whole town will suffer.

I have no way of confirming this council decision but, if true, it seems short-sighted and ultimately self-destructive.

Has consultation been carried out with stallholders, shopkeepers and customers? I doubt it.

The council should be encouraging people to come to the town and spend their money instead of driving them away.

George Weeks,
Aughton resident of many years.

Local government system clearly needs a re-think and dismantling

IN 2011 Bill Taylor, chief executive at West Lancs Council, left after 14 years in office with £350,000.

He was replaced with two female chief executives who, we were told, were going to economise and increase efficiency. Ratepayers were supposed to be getting two for one and the effects of this were to be considerable.

In 2015 Gill Rowe, one of the chief executives, left with £250,000 after taking early retirement. Ratepayers were told this would minimise overheads and one chief executive, Kim Webber, was sufficient.

Recently Kim Webber and two other senior executives announced their retirements at a cost of £650,000, including pension payments, as part of West Lancs' proposed reorganisation, and to reduce overheads and increase efficiency.

How can this local authority mess be allowed to continue? We have elected councillors who achieve zilch, apart from talking and promising, and the whole system of local government obviously needs a re-think and a dismantle.

Graham P. Walker,
Up Holland.

Still waiting for street clean-up operation we were promised

IT was good to see that Lancashire County Council has acted on the problem of the overgrown hedgerow and the unpassable pathway on Springfield Road, Aughton.

However I feel it was more to do with possible litigation than the environment.

They cut back the overgrown hedgerow only on the side where there is one path !

The remaining part of the pathway is still overgrown with gutter weeds and hedges and still unpassable.

Some time ago a council leaflet was put out telling residents that they sweep all vulnerable areas once a day and others areas every other day. I've yet to see this in Springfield Road.

David Palin,
Springfield Road, Aughton.

Parbold Hill landfill site

CAN I just point out that Maurice George in Letters To The Editor (August 7) describes the site as "completely hidden from view and barricaded" and "an enormous hole."

These descriptions are clearly not describing the threatened large grassy area at the top of Parbold Hill, which is not barricaded, is not a hole and is in plain view of everyone passing on the A5209 a few feet away.

I suggest he is confused with some other quarry.

What a shame that you published his factually incorrect letter whilst editorially trying to smear the Stop Parbold Hill Landfill campaign with giving out misinformation!

The Champion needs to put its own house in order.

Oliver Howarth, Parbold.

● Editor's note: As is regularly stated on this page, all views and opinions expressed in letters to the editor are those of the author, NOT the newspaper.

With regards to the article referred to, there was no attempt to 'smear' anyone. We were simply reporting claims made by the developers, as was made clear, both in the headline and the story. The article also included a response from Stop Parbold Hill Landfill.

We would also point out that the Champion has regularly reported the views and concerns of campaigners against the Parbold Hill proposals, as well as publishing a number of letters - including one by Mr Howarth - opposed to the development.

As far back as June 19 we carried an extensive front page article in both our West Lancashire editions detailing concerns about the plan, along with a plea by campaigners opposed to it for residents to put their objections in writing to the relevant authorities.

Teenagers bridge the generation gap

Students organise 'fantastic afternoon' for residents of retirement living scheme

A GROUP of West Lancs teenagers undertaking a National Citizen Service (NCS) programme run by Wigan Athletic Community Trust helped to bridge the generation gap by organising a nostalgic 'fun day' for residents at a retirement living scheme in Ormskirk.

The event at Brookside Retirement Living in Aughton Street was part of the students' social action plan where they give back to their local communities.

The students held fundraising events to provide residents with a fun and interactive day aimed at helping to combat loneliness and isolation, and improve their health and wellbeing.

They also took along gifts of an Amazon Echo, Instax camera, a tablet and £35 in Argos vouchers.

Activities included nostalgia-themed bingo, karaoke, a quiz, music and dancing, plus a lovely afternoon tea.

Manager at Brookside retirement living, Susan Thomas, said, "What a fantastic afternoon - we had a room full of very happy residents!

"Thank-you to the students and Wigan Athletic for coming in and putting on such a great event."

Wigan Athletic Community Trust have two NCS programmes running over the summer for 15 to 17-year-olds. These will work with more than 150 young people across West Lancashire to give them the opportunity to gain invaluable work and life skills, while helping to improve their confidence, leadership and teamwork skills.

Broken into four phases - adventure, discovery, social action project and graduation - NCS gives participants the opportunity to take on new challenges, complete a range of different activities and make new friendships.

After spending their first week in Scotland tackling activities including rafting and sailing and the second at the University of Cumbria learning to live independently, the students who visited Brookield then spent two weeks preparing for and carrying out their social action project at the home before graduating at Wigan Athletic's DW Stadium.

A watery adventure awaits at Martin Mere Wetland Centre

Summer is in full swing at the centre with our GIANT Bionic Bugs event. As well as animatronic bugs hidden around the grounds for you to find, there are 7 other bug-themed activities to keep little ones entertained for the whole day. One of our favourite activities on site is our Canoe Safari Bug Trail.

Our award-winning Canoe Safari and Boat Tours area is a kilometre-long trail of waterways that can only be explored by boat or canoe. The self-guided canoe safari offers you a unique way to explore a part of our wetland centre that isn't accessible on foot. The habitat around the canoe safari is teeming with life, so keep your eyes open and see what you can spot as your paddle your way around the twists and turns of the waterways. Dragonflies, kingfishers, water voles – what treasures will you discover?

If you prefer a more relaxed approach, sit back and relax on a guided boat tour instead. With an abundance of wildlife in the surrounding area, your boat guide will identify and point out the wildlife, plants, fish and insects all around you. Your guide will be able to help you spot elusive wildlife such as sedge and reed warblers flitting in and out of their reed bed nests. This tranquil and relaxing boat tour is a must-do for any visit.

Why not finish off your canoe or boat tour with a tasty ice cream from our Canoe Safari Kiosk? We're now stockists of the delicious Wallings Farm ice cream and with 7 staple flavours, daily specials and dairy free options – there's a flavour for everyone!

Enjoy your ice cream with a walk around our grounds to find the GIANT Bionic Bugs. There are 6 bugs for you to find and all are brought to life with state-of-the-art animatronics and sound effects. There's a 6ft dragonfly, a 4ft buzzing bee and a 6ft long grasshopper – what will your favourite be?

Join us for a bug-tastic summer adventure this summer holiday. Head to the Bug HQ to pick up a free activity book and set off on a wild adventure around our amazing wetland landscape.

Costs of day centres to increase to cover cost of running services

Report by Kenny Parker

THE cost to attend Lancashire County Council day centres will increase from October for people who pay for the service themselves.

The increase was approved by cabinet at a meeting held last week and follows a consultation earlier this year.

In West Lancs, the changes will affect people who attend the two county council run day centres in Ormskirk – the Derby Centre, on Derby Street, and Mere Brook Enhanced Day Care Centre, on Aughton Street.

Lancashire County Council runs 13 day centres that offer support for older people and people living with dementia.

Activities at the centres include everything from mobility exercises and independent living support, to crafts and discussion groups.

The county council says the current rates to attend were introduced five years ago, but no longer cover the actual cost of providing the services.

The increase will be phased in with 50% of the increase being introduced on October 1, and the remaining 50% being introduced on April 1 next year, when Government pensions are due to rise.

County Cllr Graham Gooch

Fees will typically increase between £3 and £5.50 in October, and again by a further £3 to £5.50 in April 2020. Variations depend on whether extra support and/or transport is needed.

The council says that phasing the increase in this way will give people more time to consider their care options.

People who use the centres and who have their fees paid as part of their social care package and the rates they pay are unaffected by this change.

County Councillor Graham Gooch, cabinet member for adult services, said: "The tough financial challenges we face mean we have had to look again at fees and charges for some of our services. The current day centre rates have remained unchanged since 2014, when they were brought in.

"They have not kept pace with the actual cost of providing care, which has risen considerably over the past five years. This is largely due to the increased and sometimes complex needs of people who attend our day centres.

"It is vital we staff to a level to keep people safe and well cared for, and increasing the fees so they cover the actual cost of delivering the care is a key part of this.

"We know that some people will want to reconsider their care options, which is why we're phasing in the new fees.

"This will give people the opportunity to plan their care when they know the rate of their Government pension increase for the new financial year."

The county council says the fees will be reviewed and adjusted each year to ensure they continue to cover the actual costs of delivering the services.

For more information about the county council's older people's day centres visit www.lancashire.gov.uk and search for 'care services we provide'.

Women's Institute celebrates 50 years of friendship in style!

MEMBERS of Tarleton's Women's Institute have hosted their Summer Soirée – when they celebrated 50 years of friendship.

County Chairman Jackie Hobson and members of neighbouring Women's Institute (WI) groups joined them for the celebration at The Courtyard in Tarleton, where they were treated to a fashion show, hand massages, refreshments and fizz.

Anne Ball from Tarleton WI said: "The meeting started with a presentation from Jackie Hobson to two of our members who received their 50 year membership certificates.

Members Jean Helm and Pauline Forster with Simon Yates from The Courtyard

"We were treated to a fashion show as some of our members were models for the evening and showed us a varied range of outfits and accessories, from casual to something for that special day or evening. All the models enjoyed their moment in the spotlight!

"The models had a lovely treat from Secret Spa in Tarleton; they all had their nails done for their special evening. Secret Spa also gave free hand massages during the evening and discount vouchers to all the ladies present.

"The evening finished with a fantastic raffle and the ladies received discount vouchers for The Courtyard, whilst they were leaving."

Confidential texting service will offer support to people with wellbeing issues

Care trust to launch new scheme next month

PEOPLE in the county experiencing issues affecting their wellbeing will soon be able to access support through a confidential texting service that is launching next month.

Lancashire Care NHS Foundation Trust's Wellbeing and Mental Health Helpline has announced that its service is expanding and will soon be offering increased emotional and wellbeing support to young people in the area.

The brand new service aims to reach out to those who may find it difficult talking on the phone by providing emotional support via text messages.

On texting the service, the person will receive a welcome message confirming their text has been received and will be responded to within 24 hours. An operator will then respond and invite the person to share how they are feeling and provide emotional support.

Pressured

Service users will also be able to obtain information about local and national services from operators, ensuring that people can access support from a number of resources.

Wellbeing and Mental Health Helpline manager at the trust, Lorraine Khalaf said: "We are really excited to be expanding our service and to be able to increase our offer to people living in the area.

"We recognise that for some people, picking up the phone can be as difficult as having a conversation face-to-face. Some people can feel pressured to think about what it is they want to say over the phone, but equally in the back of their minds, may know that they need to talk to someone.

From next month support for wellbeing and mental health issues will be available by text.

"It is really important for a service like the Mental Health Helpline to be able to move with the times and offer a flexible service that offers the right support through the right channels.

"All of our trained volunteers are here to do this and will introduce themselves and invite the person texting to share as much information as they feel conformable with. By listening, asking and responding to questions, our volunteers will help people to think clearly and make decisions about their own wellbeing."

The service, which is due to launch on Tuesday, September 10 as part of World Suicide Prevention Day, can be contacted by texting HELLO to 07860 022 846. Lines are open Monday to Friday from 7 to 11pm and Saturday and Sunday from noon to midnight.

For more information about the service visit www.lancashirecare.nhs.uk/texting-service.

It's good to talk...

Young people reminded that county council's support service is available to offer advice about exam worries or other issues

STUDENTS anxious about either their A-level or GCSE results are reminded that help, support and guidance is available from Lancashire County Council's advice and support service, Talkzone.

Young people between the ages of 12 and 19 can access the service by telephone, text, webtalk, email and Facebook.

It is also available for any young person up to the age of 25 with a disability and can be accessed from 2 to 10pm each day including weekends and bank holidays.

This year A-Level results are due to be announced on Thursday, August 15 with GCSE results revealed a week later on Thursday, August 22.

County Councillor Phillippa Williamson, Lancashire's cabinet member for children, young people and schools, said: "I appreciate that this can be a very worrying time for young people. I can still remember vividly how anxious I felt going into school to get my results - I wish Talkzone had been available then as I'm sure I would have used it."

Through Talkzone, young people can speak with trained advisers in confidence and chat through anything that is worrying them, as well as their exam results. Staff are able to talk about a wide range of issues which, the county council says, young people say they really appreciate, including feeling low, relationships, leaving home or contraceptive advice.

Since it was set up 24 years ago, Talkzone advisers have responded to thousands of enquiries from young people on a huge range of issues.

Talkzone manager, Gaja Gannon, added: "Although the majority of the calls we take in August are about worries over A-levels and GCSEs, we're available 365 days a year to talk to any young person about any concerns they have.

The county council's Talkzone helpline is available for young people worried about exam results and any other issues.

"Staff are fully trained and are able to identify options for young people who may not have a place in further or higher education sorted out, or for those whose results have been better or worse than expected.

"Whether the issue is large or small, Talkzone is available to help, so don't be afraid to call, text or contact us online."

Young people can call Talkzone on 0800 511 111, text on 07786 511 111; email talkzone@lancashire.gov.uk, access webtalk services at www.lancashire.gov.uk/youthzone/get-in-touch.aspx; or visit www.facebook.com/LancashireYPS.

Scouts enjoy Alpine adventure

MEMBERS of the 37th Ormskirk (St Anne's) Scout Group have been creating memories to last a lifetime while adventuring in Austria.

A group of 51 Scouts and leaders travelled to the central European country known for its mountain villages, baroque architecture, and rugged Alpine terrain.

During their trip the youngsters, all aged between 10 and 17, enjoyed a wide range of activities including hiking, swimming, white water rafting, cable car rides and tree-top rope walks.

Amazing

They also tackled the Wally Blitz - the steepest toboggan ride in the Alps, starting at an elevation of 1.2 km with 1km of loops, curves and hairpin bends!

And they took time out to sample a taste of local culture with a day trip to Oberammergau in Bavaria - scene of the world-famous Passion Plays.

Group Scout leader Bill Gilham who organised the trip - his eighth - said: "The Scouts were amazing and took part in everything on offer. The adults on the trip - all volunteers - made sure the Scouts had the best time and made memories to last forever."

New blood cancer support group launched

LYMPHOMA Action, the only charity in the UK dedicated to this particular type of blood cancer, is launching a new support group for people across North Merseyside and West Lancashire.

The group will meet on the first Wednesday of alternate months from 6 to 7.30pm, starting on September 4, at Parenting 2000 in Mornington Road, Southport.

Lymphoma is the fifth most common cancer in the UK, with a new case diagnosed every 27 minutes and the charity wants everyone affected to receive the best possible information, support, treatment and care.

Hosted by Karen Bonell, regional development manager at Lymphoma Action, the support group is open to anyone affected by a diagnosis of Hodgkins or non-Hodgkins Lymphoma or chronic lymphocytic leukaemia (CLL).

Friends, family members and colleagues of people with blood cancer are all welcome.

Anyone interested in attending can contact Karen on 07710 393 891 for an informal chat or for more information you can visit the charity's website at lymphoma-action.org.uk.

I have a near perfect recycling machine in my two dogs, Tina and Cinders...

IT'S all a lot of rubbish really.

When it comes to recycling - something of which I truly approve - I'm still not certain for example of what constitutes recyclable plastic, and I am still concerned as to what and where all this recycling takes place.

Since the separate paper collection and the food caddie finished, it seems to me that the 'general' rubbish bag must contain such an awful mess that pulling the wheat (if there is any) from the chaff must be difficult in the extreme.

I remember, years ago when recycling was in its infancy locally, having a conversation with an elderly woman on the subject. She too said she was all for the idea of the scheme, but said: "I'm ded if I'm going to start washing my rubbish!"

Anyway, I think I now own the near perfect recycling machine for food waste. It's called a couple of dogs, Tina and Cinders.

Nearly six years ago, after the death of my brother George, I was trying to find ways of saving money. And one of the better schemes I came up with was to steam as much of my food as possible, a plan which was not only healthy but also saved quite a lot of energy in that a complete dinner for one could be cooked using but one pan.

Then, about three years ago I watched a television programme about commercial dog food, whether it was good for your beloved pet. And the 'expert' wheeled on for this comfortingly said that most of the dog foods available, both tinned and dry, did a pretty good job - which cheered me since I was using the dry dog food which both dogs seemed to enjoy.

And it gave me an idea. The one major point this expert made was that most dog foods were somewhat lacking in sufficient vegetable content. Why not, I cunningly thought, put the potato peelings, ditto carrots and indeed the bits left over when any veggies are prepared for the pan, in the bottom, water compartment of the steamer and add the resultant 'soup' to the doggy dinner?

And it has worked. No surprise that Cinders eats up her cabbage and cauliflower (she'll eat anything remotely edible, plus the wrappers). Tina though is more particular about what goes in her tummy but - surprise - she obviously relishes just about any vegetable she is confronted with.

Obviously they'll also accept any left-overs from my meal, so I am in a position where, apart from the odd chicken bone, just about every scrap of food is usefully used! And at the same time I can save a little extra by giving them slightly less of their 'official' food.

Mind you, what dogs (or at least my two) seem actually really to enjoy amazes me. Tina, for instance, has a particular fondness for curry - the hotter the better - and doesn't even make for her water bowl when she's done.

And I'm not quite sure how dogs eat spaghetti - that simply disappears, hoover-like, in seconds.

Coming back to recycling in general though, those huge bin wagons they have nowadays, with six or even eight wheels and a bogging great diesel engine up front, along with a small army of support vehicles for various specialised recycling projects, can't be doing much for the environment.

If we are to have electric cars and buses, why not electric refuse collection lorries? In fact, I think we are still a long way off practical electric traction for long distance heavy loads, so perhaps it's about time we turned once again to our railways, where one (electric) loco can haul the equivalent of perhaps a couple of dozen HGVs.

And for that matter, one bus load equals perhaps 26 cars or so...

Food for thought perhaps, or should that be food for dogs in our modern, non-polluting, recyclable world?

Michael Gray (front in red tunic) at his induction to the Guild of Vergers.

Church verger given national honour for years of hard work

Report by Kenny Parker

A VERGER at Holy Trinity Church in Tarleton is now an honoured member of the Church of England Guild of Vergers following a formal admission service.

A verger is typically someone who acts as a caretaker and attendant at a place of worship.

Performing the role of verger as a volunteer, Michael Gray assists in the running of day to day church life, such as maintaining candles, opening and closing the building, presentation of the church, and the provision of books and kneelers . Michael, 77, a retired NHS accountant, has been attending Holy Trinity Church since he moved to Tarleton in 2001 to be closer to family. He took on the role of verger following the death of his wife Margaret five years ago.

About being admitted to the guild of vergers, Mr Gray said: "Being accepted to the Guild is a great honour and provides members a chance to show their faith.

"It enables close fellowship, sharing of thoughts and practice, personal support and friendship outside our normal spheres.

"This is beneficial to the church as a whole as we are all able to provide a better, holistic and more informed service to the church."

Payment to volunteer vergers is only made for special events such as weddings and funerals when the opening of the church is made available outside of the normal church routine and officiating is required. This is a set fee regulated by the Church of England.

The Church of England Guild of Vergers was founded in 1932 to promote Christian Fellowship and spiritual guidance among the vergers of the cathedrals and parish churches of England.

It has a current membership of around 750 with a further 100 members overseas.

Champion ENTERTAINMENT

See Lyn Paul for last time in Blood Brothers

BILL Kenwright's production of the international smash hit musical Blood Brothers returns to the Liverpool Empire from Tuesday, September 3 until Saturday, September 14.

Starring Lyn Paul in the iconic role of Mrs Johnstone for the final time, she will be joined by Joel Benedict as Eddie, Danielle Corlass as Linda, Danny Taylor as Sammy and Chloe Taylor as Mrs Lyons. Alexander Patmore returns as Mickey alongside Robbie Scotcher as the narrator.

The rest of the cast for Blood Brothers includes Tim Churchill, Graham Martin, Gemma Brodrick, Hannah Barr Graeme Kinniburgh, Shaun McCourt and Connor Bannister.

Considered 'One of the best musicals ever written' (Sunday Times), Blood Brothers, written by award-winning playwright Willy Russell has triumphed across the Globe. Scooping up no fewer than four awards for Best Musical in London and seven Tony Award nominations on Broadway.

This epic tale of Liverpool life started as a play, performed at a Liverpool comprehensive school in 1981 before opening at the Liverpool Playhouse in 1983. It has since completed sell out seasons in the US, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and Japan and ran in London's West End for 24 years, exceeding 10,000 performances. One of only three musicals ever to achieve that milestone.

Blood Brothers tells the moving story of twin boys separated at birth, only to be reunited by a twist of fate and a mother's haunting secret. The memorable score includes A Bright New Day, Marilyn Monroe and the emotionally charged hit Tell Me It's Not True.

When Mrs Johnstone, a young mother, is deserted by her husband and left to her own devices to provide for seven hungry children she takes a job as a housekeeper in order to make ends meet.

A scene from Blood Brothers

It is not long before her brittle world crashes around her when she discovers herself to be pregnant yet again – this time with twins!

In a moment of weakness and desperation, she enters a secret pact with her employer which leads inexorably to the show's shattering climax.

Willy Russell is one of this country's leading contemporary dramatists. His theatre credits include Educating Rita, Shirley Valentine, Breezeblock Park and Our Day Out.

Educating Rita, originally commissioned by the Royal Shakespeare Company, enjoyed a two-year run in the West End and was made into a film starring Michael Caine and Julie Walters. Shirley Valentine also made the move from stage to screen in an enormously popular film starring Pauline Collins and Tom Conti.

David reckons the Mercedes A-Class is a good drive, but the gadgets are a bit overbearing

Why has Mercedes given the gig of running A-Class to Word's poor old Clippy?

"IT LOOKS like you're writing a column for The Champion. Can I help?"

Anyone even vaguely familiar with Clippy, the relentlessly cheery - and endlessly irritating - virtual assistant for Microsoft Word will know how I feel this week.

Every time you tried even the simplest task, like opening your latest missive with "Dear", would instantly be met with a bombardment of questions about exactly how you'd like to write a letter.

Thankfully Clippy was quickly marched into Bill Gates' office and promptly issued with his P45 many years ago, but I'm beginning to wonder whether he's since managed to get another job – this time, residing in the infotainment system of the latest Mercedes A-Class.

I've just spent several hundred miles in the company of a mid-range A180d, but it felt more like a shift rather than a drive. When all of its considerable amount of in-car tech is up and running it might as well be a work station on wheels – perhaps with a photocopier and a water cooler in the corner – than a car.

Its pièce de résistance is a double-screen, interactive display that starts behind the steering wheel and runs right across to the centre of the dashboard and controls every function imaginable in the A-Class, from the cruise control to how much bass you'd like on the tunes being played through its Bluetooth connection.

It is very cleverly engineered and I'm sure that if I spent about a month going through every sub-menu fiddling with the settings it would be fine-tuned to match every minute facet of my personality, but because I hadn't – and because it was doing its best to try and guess them – it did make me wonder why Mercedes had given the important gig of running the A-Class to poor old Clippy.

Leaving a car park, for instance, does not require a feed from four car-mounted cameras to be instantly fired up – not when I have mirrors, windows and a moveable neck that can already do all of that. Nor do I want, when I'm squeezing through a tight gap, a collision warning system to chime in at the precise moment that I'm concentrating.

It's also not terribly intuitive to use – it's controlled via the steering wheel, a touch screen and a sensor pad on the centre console, the latter of which is mounted right next to the cupholders.

Which means you end up accidentally exiting the satnav when you grab your cup of coffee.

It even has a wrist support to stop you getting repetitive strain injury.

I'm used to these doing an eight-hour stint in an office, but in a car?

All of which meant I ended up doing what most Microsoft Word users did about 20 years ago – switching off Clippy altogether – and driving around with as much of the in-car tech as possible shut down.

As soon as I did that I actually enjoyed the A-Class for what it really is – it's beautifully built, decent to drive, a lot nicer to look at than the previous model and, in A180d form at least, equipped with a turbodiesel that delivers plenty of mid-range thump on motorways and dual carriageways.

I reckon it's the best A-Class so far, once you let the engineering – rather than the tech – do the talking.

Brilliant, I've made it to the end of this week's column without Clippy chiming in!

"It looks like you're signing off for another week. Can I hel…"

Ormskirk's title hopes suffer a setback after Bootle washout

National Club Cup tie at Richmondshire also hit by weather

WET weather once again ruined another round of league fixtures in the Liverpool & District Cricket Competition Premier Division on Saturday.

Bootle remain 31 points clear at the top after their eagerly anticipated home clash against second placed Ormskirk was abandoned without a ball being bowled.

Ormskirk's scheduled National Club Cup game at Richmondshire was rained off last Sunday and will now be played on Sunday, August 25.

Ormksirk will host Toft in the ECB National Club Twenty20 quarter final this Sunday, August 18 with a 2pm start.

But one game were substantial play was possible was Southport & Birkdale's match at third placed New Brighton which ended in a closely fought draw

S&B were asked to bat and, in between a two hour deluge, were bowled out in 44.5 overs for 98.

Harry May 28 and Isaac Lea 23 were the top scorers, while Ashraf Nawab took 6-22 with the ball.

In reply the hosts had 19 overs in which to reach their target and eventually ended 11 runs short of victory on 88-8.

Matty Thompson top scored with 32, whilst Gary Keedy 4-15 and Chris Cunningham 3-36 took S&B to within two wickets of victory.

For all S&B's efforts in the field they only came away with four points, whilst the hosts collected five from a match that maybe merited them both getting a little more from their efforts.

Formby managed some play in their home match against Northern but it was called off after 23.4 overs with James Seward 44* and Ollie Sutton 34* both unbeaten at the crease with the score on 82-0.

Dickenson bowls devastating spell in win for Hesketh

IN the First Division, Fleetwood Hesketh beat the weather and Highfield in a very entertaining match at Sea Cop.

The hosts were asked to bat and collapsed from 35-0 (Luke Tinsley 20) to 65-8 before Gavin Dickensen 16 and Danny Murphy 13* added a few vital runs down the order as they were dismissed for 94, with Chris Liptrot taking 6-49 and Madduma Lakmal 3-26 with the ball.

In reply, a devastating opening burst of six wickets out of seven from Dickensen quickly reduced the visitors to 44-7, however with Ben Gregory at the crease the visitors were still in the match and at 84-9 it was anyone's to win.

The reintroduction of Dickensen (7-24) then proved decisive as the return catch he took to remove Gregory for 33 meant Fleetwood ran out victors by just eight runs.

Ainsdale's fixture at Sefton Park was abandoned without a single ball being bowled.

In the Second Division, Southport Trinity's match at Spring View was another to succumb to the weather, as was Burscough's home fixture against Maghull and Hightown St Mary's home match against Sutton.

THIS weekend's local LDCC fixtures (noon start): Formby v Orrell Red Triangle, Northern v Lytham, Ormskirk v Colwyn Bay, Southport & Birkdale v Bootle, Ainsdale v Birkenhead Park, Rainford v Fleetwood Hesketh, Maghull v Hightown St Mary's, Norley Hall v Burscough and Southport Trinity v Liverpool.

Skem face FA Cup replay after Cawley strike cancelled out

Report by Neil Leatherbarrow

Skelmersdale United 1
Penistone Church 1

SKELMERSDALE United will face a replay in their FA Cup qualifying match after letting a 1-0 lead slip against Penistone Church.

Skelmersdale United opened the scoring on Friday night at Volair Park Prescot in the 57th minute, but were pegged back by an equaliser just 15 minutes from full-time.

The first-half saw a pair of defences on top and as a result chances were at a premium.

Skelmersdale came nearest to scoring when a corner was partially cleared and the ball was lobbed back into the goalmouth from the left and under pressure from a host of Skem players Penistone goalkeeper Chris Snaith needed all his six-foot plus build to tip the ball to safety over his crossbar.

Down the other end Skelmersdale goalkeeper Ben Barnes, who has joined since last season, competently dealt with a series of crosses and preventive keeping that really was what you would expect from a goalkeeper.

The second-half was a lot livelier, and soon a shot from the right went into the Penistone side-netting, while Barnes was made to save at away forward Nathan Keightley's feet in the corner of the penalty area.

Skelmersdale took the lead and after some neat approach play. Barnes took a ground kick in the Skem 18 yard box and the ball bounced once and sailed over the last defender. Joe Cawley read the situation well, ran onto the ball and from 12 yards with his right-foot lifted the ball over advancing keeper Snaith into the net behind him.

Just after the hour mark Alex Griffiths cut in from the left and his shot drifted just wide of the far post as Skem came close to making it 2-0.

However, in the 75th minute Penistone got their equaliser. The ball was played wide right to Keightley who quickly put it across the face of goal and substitute Shaun Mundy slid in and managed to direct the ball into the Skelmersdale net to make it 1-1.

Skelmersdale had more of the possession after the Penistone goal and but for a brave save at Cawley's feet by Snaith they could have won. The last big moment fell to Penistone deep into added time. A James Young free-kick was hoisted up to the far post and headed down to number six Brett Lovell, his shot from four yards slammed against the Skelmersdale bar and bounced clear, within five seconds referee Anthony Ball blew for full-time.

Skelmersdale deserved at least a draw and will head towards Barnsley on Wednesday night with serious hopes of winning.

After two league games and an FA Cup game they remain unbeaten, defensively they look strong and the presence of Barnes in goal has made a noticeable difference. The winner of the replay though has the tough task of visiting City of Liverpool in the next round.

Linnets win five goal thriller thanks to late penalty from Hill

BURSCOUGH won a five-goal thriller against local rivals AFC Liverpool in their FA Cup qualifying victory.

Goals from Ben Lightfoot (26 mins), Andy Presho (58 mins) and a late Deklan Hill penalty saw the Linnets win 3-2 and reach the next round of the competition.

Burscough have a trip to Manchester as their reward where they play Trafford in the Preliminary Round on Saturday, August 24.

If Skelmersdale win their replay against Penistone tonight (Wednesday, August 14) in South Yorkshire they will travel to play City of Liverpool also on August 24, COL playing their home games at Bootle FC.

Both teams are back to league action on Saturday and in the North-West Counties Premier Division table there is not a lot to choose between the teams.

Burscough are currently 11th on 3 points from their two league games, while unbeaten Skelmersdale are in 13th position on two points from two league games.

Skelmersdale face a visit to familiar territory on Saturday but a far from easy encounter at Northwich Victoria.

The Vic's have done some wandering ground-wise over the last few years but seem to have settled at Witton Albion's Wincham Park for now, a ground Skem supporters will know well from the Northern Premier League days and maybe more significantly one they have only lost once on over those years. Northwich have won one and lost one in the league so far.

Burscough are on home territory, where they face Irlam, kick off 3pm. The team from the west side of Manchester have made a solid start to the season with a win and a draw so far and sit unbeaten on four points. They regularly give the Linnets a close encounter so it should be a good game at Victoria Park on Saturday.

Both teams are again in action in the middle of next week. Skem have a local derby at Litherland Remyca on Wednesday, August 21, kick off 7.45pm.

It will be of big significance to a number of people involved at Skem, especially manager Paul McNally who spent a successful period as assistant manager at the club a couple of years ago.

The night before on Tuesday, August 20, Burscough are at home to newly promoted Rylands. The Warrington based club got promotion in their first ever season in the North-West Counties League and have won their opening two games in the Premier Division.

The club are owned by Wayne Rooney's agent Paul Stretford.

If Skelmersdale lose out in their replay in Yorkshire they will play at home to Barnoldswick Town on Saturday, August 24. It will be a first ever league meeting between the clubs, but obviously that has to be confirmed.
